GRAND ARMY OF THE REPUBLIC.

The Grand Rally of the Badger Boys in Blue.

The City Filling up with the Veteran Defenders of the Union.

Annual Meeting of the Department Encampment of Wisconsin.

The annual meeting of the Department Encampment of Wisconsin, Grand Army of the Republic, convened in the Grand hall, this city, at two o'clock this afternoon, with a good representation from the one hundred and thirty-two posts in the state. The trains on the various railroads brought in delegations, yesterday afternoon and evening, and this morning and during the day large reinforcements arrived, so that the meeting is one of the largest ever held in the state. The veterans are as fine a looking body of men as ever assembled together, most of whom appear in the uniform of the Grand Army, wearing the little badge of the order, bearing the insignia of their rank in the army. Among these little souvenirs of "the times that tried men's souls," we noticed a few bearing two stars, a number with the eagle, still more bearing the leaf, the parallel bars, and the plain strap at the top of the little badge while many were simply the plain badge, telling us that these in whose possession they are ranked respectively as general, colonel, lieutenant colonel or major, captain, first lieutenant, second lieutenant, and private, all coming together on a common level, for the purpose of devoting their time for a couple of days to the interest of the great cause for which they and their comrades struggled so long to maintain. Many of those who were in the city last evening, visited the W. H. Sargent Post No. 20, where a special meeting was held for the purpose of exemplifying the work of the order, and a right social evening was spent in renewing old acquaintances.

At ten o'clock this morning the meeting of the council of administration took place in room 2, Myers house, for the purpose of transacting business pertaining to the order.

THE MEETING.

The Department Encampment was called to order by Commander Phil Cheek, Jr., of Baraboo. The department officers present were:

Commander—Phil Cheek, Jr., of Baraboo.

Senior Vice Commander—R. J. Flint, of Menomonie.

Junior Vice Commander—C. W. Steele, of Whitewater.

Assistant Adjutant General—J. T. Whitney, of Baraboo.

STAFF.

Chief Muster Officer—T. O. Holmes of Baraboo.

Inspector—T. W. Haight, of Wausau.

Judge Advocate—Geo. Graham, of Tomah.

Past Department Commanders—H. C. Rogers, of Milwaukee; and J. M. Eves, of Wausau.

Commander Cheek presented his report as follows:

To the Department Encampment of Wisconsin:

COMRADES—You meet in the 18th annual encampment of the department of Wisconsin, after another year of labor and prosperity. We are assembled to transact business for the good of the order, to settle the affairs of the year closed, and plan for the future. I deem it to be the duty of the commander to make such recommendations as the experience gained in the field of labor suggests to him as necessary to the growth and success of the order. There being no record of any vote of the encampment fixing the ratio of representation from posts, I suggest that if a change in the representation other than that fixed by the rules and regulations which in this department with our 3,000 members, is one delegate and one alternate for every fifty members and majority fractions thereof, fifty in good standing in each post, then such action should be taken by the encampment.

I also recommend that the expense of a suitable room for department headquarters at the national encampment be paid by the department; and further recommend that at the next national encampment, to be held at Minneapolis, in July, 1884, if this department at that session shall decide to take part as a department in the parade to be made at that time, that this encampment choose a committee to purchase a banner for the use of the department on parades and other suitable occasions, and to be cared for as department property.

I recommend in view of the fact, that it takes the whole time of a competent man to discharge the duties of Assistant Adjutant General, that the salary of that officer be made $800 per annum, also that the per capita tax be, by resolution reduced from 40 to 20 cents per member per annum.

The delegation from this department to Denver, consisted not only of the elected delegates Davison, Fiecin and West, but also included Comrades Calkins, of the national council of administration, and Comrades Woodward, Borde, Irwin, Hollock, Ransbush, Curtin, and Tate, and while there a reunion of Wisconsin soldiers was called at which there were over 200 comrades most of whom belong to the G. A. R. in other departments, a roster of which is now at department headquarters, for future reference, and most of whom promised to meet us at Milwaukee at the reunion of 1885.

I have to report that in pursuance of the resolution of the last encampment I have appointed a committee as provided by said resolution to organize for the reunion of '85. I have spent 143 days during the last year in the work of the order, have mustered in person six new posts, visited posts or made addresses at camp fires, and numerous at Wausau, North Freedom, Elroy, Sparta, Virgo, Mauston, Eau Claire, Merrillan, Tomah, Milwaukee, (both Posts and Soldiers' day at exposition,) Mezonie, Jucen, Whitewater, Madison, Lodi, Evansville, Grand Rapids, Appleton, Watertown, Chippewa Falls, Green Bay, Janesville, Lone Rock, Spring Green, Neenah, Berlin, Portage, Manitowish, La Crosse, Kendall and Harvard, Illinois.

The comrades everywhere have shown the real and energy necessary for active work. Comrade Fiecin as assistant inspector on Commander Van Der Voort's staff, made a complete roster and return of delinquent posts, and procured the necessary reports, so that the department was fully reported and no question of representation in the national encampment was raised. Comrade Haight, the present inspector, has made a very thorough report as required by the rules and regulations, and which will be presented to the encampment. The Judge Advocate, Comrade Graham, is always prompt and efficient and has met every demand made upon him for opinions promptly, and so satisfactory that no appeals have been taken. Comrade Holmes, chief mustering officer, has been always ready and willing to go on order to muster, and has been cheerfully supported and assisted in that work by Comrades Clayton, Bennett, Wood, Woodward, Gurnsey, Webster, Tolford, Bartlett, Vickers, Cone, Ripley, Davis, Graham, Spaulding, Jackson, Mahoney, Callaway, Spencer, Dean, Curtis, Pierce, Swift, Wakefield, Wright and Flint, who have at all times held themselves at considerable expense and outlay of time, ready to discharge the duties of assistant mustering officers. The A. A. G.'s report will more fully show the results of their labor. It is with great pleasure that I say to you, comrades that no commander was ever better supported by his associates in official position as well as by the rank and file of the command, than I have been during the past year. S. V. C. R. J. Flint is a most efficient officer and has done a great work in his part of the department, for the order. The A. C. M. G. Thomas has done all that he could do with his continued ill health, to help the work along. The duties of his office, except signing reports, has been performed mostly by the A. C. G. during the last eight months, relieving him somewhat from the labor of routine business. The A. A. G. has done his part with skill and ability and has reduced the business of his office to a regular system, so that all the records of the department are well kept in suitable books, and the correspondence, which is very large in relation to department affairs are answered properly and without any delay, and he has greatly assisted me in trying to trace the whereabouts of the old records of the department. We are satisfied that there is a record in large books purchased by the department, and kept for some time, now in existence, but where they are now we have been unable to ascertain, but still hope they will in the near future be restored by whoever has them to the department, as without them the full official record cannot be written.

In conclusion let me say I thank you all for the very hearty co-operation given the present administration, and one united effort shows that there have been organized in Wisconsin during the past years posts from No. 64 to 132 inclusive, which, with No. 12 revised and re-organized make a total gain of 60 posts. The membership Jan. 20th, 1883, was 2480; Jan. 20th, 1884, 3079, a gain during the year of 599. The department owes nothing. The amount turned over by my predecessor was $902.28. Cash on hand $103.20. Due the department from posts $73.23, making a total of $146.43 in cash. I close with the prediction (and do it because a year ago I said, "I believe with the requisite work the posts and members of the department could be doubled"—and it has been more than that) that if in the course of the year to come there shall be the same spirit of loyalty to the order and the same zealous support given the new administration that mine has received, and a like amount of work done, our order a year hence in this department will number 200 posts and 11,000 members, and the same ratio of gain in all the departments for the next 6 months will make this order 270,000 strong at Minneapolis.

THOMAS C. HAY, Jr., Department Commander.

From Adjutant Whitney's report, we notice that Robert Clives Post, No. 2, of Milwaukee, stands at the head, so far as numbers are concerned, having a membership of 223; James Crawford Post No. 68, of Chippewa Falls, ranks second with 168 members; W. H. Sargent Post of this city, comes in third with a membership of 145.

Commander Cheek estimates that with the same ratio of increase for the next six months, there will be represented at the national encampment which meets in Minneapolis next July, a membership of (250,000), and he is very enthusiastic concerning the future of the order.

MATHIAS.

GILLEY-PRATT.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mayo, in Oakville on the evening of Jan. 10th, 1884, Miss Nellie, daughter of Wm. and Ann Pratt, and Mr. Edward Gilley, of Cambria, Minn., were united in marriage. Rev. A. A. Drown officiating. The congratulations were exceedingly hearty. The relatives of each party feeling a mutual delight in their friend's happy occasion. The gifts were remarkably substantial, as well as numerous. In contrast with much that glitters on such occasions, it was pleasant to think of the utility to a young bride of a hundred gold dollars for instance. There is a general feeling of regret that Cooksville is to lose one of her choicest young ladies.

—Mr. A. L. Brown, representing Poole, Kent & Co., of Chicago, in the Janesville branch of the Chicago board of trade, who has been in Chicago for the past six months, has come back to Janesville, and will remain during the winter, attending to the business of the office in the 12-dred block. Mr. Brown has built up quite a trade for his firm in this city, and is very popular among our business men, especially those dealing in grain.

—Robert Brand, of Oshkosh, is in the city attending the G. A. R. encampment, as representative of the Oshkosh Post, Mr. Brand was, for a long time previous to the war, a citizen of Janesville, and enlisted in this city in '60. He, 5th regiment, afterwards transferred to the U. S. navy. At the close of the war he removed to Oshkosh, where he is now engaged in the furniture trade and boat building, in which he is excelled by none. His old friends in Janesville are glad to meet him.

Circuit Court.

The case of Barriago, against Kent is still on trial in the circuit court and bids fair to consume the week. The action is for damages for the loss of the plaintiff's right hand, which occurred while he was helping about a planer in the shop of the defendant in January, 1881. Barriago was then about sixteen years old.
